DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's arguments filed 22 April 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's Arguments

a) Applicant states that what the examiner refers to as AAPA in the applicant's specification is under the section heading "description of the preferred embodiments", the applicant also states that Figure 7 is not Prior Art.

Examiner's Response

a) The examiner would like the applicant to clarify with respect to page 9, line 12, which states that "This process is conventionally known as culling" In addition to the description of Figure 7 (page 17, line 22) which states "The process of "culling" is illustrated in Figure 7. Thus based upon the applicant's own admission that such a process is conventional (i.e. well-known) the examiner maintains the rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by applicant's admitted prior art (AAPA).

In considering claims 1-4 and 7-9,
*a-b) the claimed receiver...*as disclosed by AAPA Page 8, line 27 to page 9 line 12, where the process of parts of sections of objects including but not exclusively the foreground CGO, the background and the broadcast background which when resolved onto the screen co-ordinate screen and the nominal user position, or are within the screen dimensions but further away from the screen and the nominal user position, or are within the screen dimensions but further away from the screen than some other object are not displayed. Thus the conventional method receives a signal (i.e. video frames) defining a background and control parameters and monitors the position of the foreground with respect to the background. As disclosed in applicant's specification, the process of culling is conventional, where this process is also illustrated in Figure 7.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5-6, 10 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over AAPA.

In considering claims 5-6, 10 and 12,

AAPA does not explicitly recite selecting one of a plurality of datastreams from the broadcast signal.

The receipt of broadcast signals which can include a plurality of datastreams is conventional in the art, where broadcasters can send embedded data/virtual channels/or additional information relating to the broadcast where the user can select the desired stream. Thus the examiner takes "OFFICIAL NOTICE" regarding such a feature.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify AAPA which discloses the receipt of broadcast signals along with the generated of a foreground image by also allowing the viewer to select a desired stream from the broadcast channel when multiple streams are present, in order to provide the user an enhanced viewing experience.

In considering claim 11,

The claims pertain to receiving a broadcast signal, however the claim is directed to what the broadcast signal includes, thus the examiner is rejecting the claim on a conventional broadcast system as disclosed in the applicant's specification. If the applicant desires to claim how the signal is transmitted/broadcast and what the signal includes, the claims should be amended, assuming the specification supports the claimed subject matter.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure—see newly cited references on attached form PTO-892.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

The tools currently available in the Patent EBC are Patent Application Information Retrieval (PAIR) and the Electronic Filing System (EFS). PAIR (<http://pair.uspto.gov>) provides customers direct secure access to their own patent application status information, as well as to general patent information publicly available. EFS allows customers to electronically file patent application documents securely via the Internet. EFS is a system for submitting new utility patent applications and pre-grant publication submissions in electronic publication-ready form. EFS includes software to help customers prepare submissions in extensible Markup Language (XML) format and to assemble the various parts of the application as an electronic submission package. EFS also allows the submission of Computer Readable Format (CRF) sequence listings for pending biotechnology patent applications, which were filed in paper form.
